This option allows your company to meet O.S.H.A.'s regulations by having an In-House Trainer available when your needs arrive.

The following classes are required:

FORKLIFT OPERATOR TRAINING CLASS

Based on the O.S.H.A. regulation 1910.178, anyone who operates a forklift must be trained, evaluated and certified. Forklift Operators must be at least 18 years of age.

- Equipco's program consists of capacity plate explanation, DVD format computer generated video, verbal instruction, graphics, written and oral reviews, daily start-up safety checks and hands-on* operational techniques.
- Each trainee will come away with a good basic understanding of how the forklift operates and how load handling affects the stability of the forklift. Their responsibilities as an employee to do daily start-up safety checks and demonstrate proper operation techniques.
- Each trainee will receive a certificate of completion and operator identification card.
- Equipco will maintain a history for a period of three years, after three years the trainee will have to re-certify to continue to operate a forklift.

Does not meet O.S.H.A.'s requirements for forklift product, site and application specific certification – This is covered in our Train the Trainer Class.

TRAIN THE TRAINER CLASS

This class is designed to help benefit companies with the desire to perform the classroom and hands-on training for their employees. It is a prerequisite that anyone attending this class must first attend the Forklift Operator Training Class.

- Each trainee will come away with the understanding of O.S.H.A. regulation 1910.178 – which drives the need for forklift product, site and application specific certification. This regulation, along with ANSI, ITA, UL and NFPA regulations will be discussed. Their interactions are explained, as well as their impact on the actual information developed within the Hyster Training Program.
- At the conclusion of this class, trainees will be able to present Hyster's Forklift Operator Training Program and enforce O.S.H.A.'s operator training requirements.
- Each trainee will receive a certificate of completion.
